Electricity and Steam on Railroads.
 There has been a vigorous contest in the legislature of Connecticut over the provisions of the proposed general statute for the regulation of electric-railway enterprises. As finally passed, the bill permits the paralleling of existing steam railroads, provided the courts can be convinced that the public interest requires it in any particular case, which is perhaps the wisest disposition of the matter that could have been made. Freight may be transported under similar conditions.

Our own view of the matter is that the steam railroad companies will ultimately find it for their interest to control all the profitable and well located electric lines and will operate them on a coupon ticket system as feeders and distributors of their local passenger traffic. That this might be done in many cases, with the greatest possible advantage to all concerned, is obvious upon the most casual consideration of the matter.—Engineering Magazine.

Deaths From Diphtheria.
 Nearly one-third of the 708 deaths in this city last week were the result of three diseases—pulmonary consumption, diarrhea and diphtheria. The mortality from diphtheria in proportion to the number of cases of it was very high, or 45 deaths to 119 cases. Until 40 years ago this malady was almost unknown in the United States, but it has lately become widely prevalent and is terribly dangerous, as may be seen by the records of mortality. No effective method of treating it has yet been discovered, though men of science have striven and are striving to discover such a method. It is a contagious disease; it is epidemic. We wish that some member of the medical faculty could find the means of putting a stop to its ravages or at least reducing the number of its victims.—New York Sun.

"By the Wish of His Wife."
 It is generally believed that the money which the Duke of Portland wins at racing is given to charity, according to the direction of the duchess, and the duke, not content with this, seems determined to hand down to posterity a tribute to her wholesome influence. In the center of the new fine almshouses lately erected on his Welbeck estate for the widows of those employed on it there is a stone with an engraved inscription setting forth that the buildings were "erected by the sixth Duke of Portland 'by the wish of his wife.'" Thereafter follow the names of the successful race horses and their victories.—London Tit-Bits.

Death of "Mother Shipton."
 Mother Shipton is dead, or at any rate the real author of her famous prophecies is no more. In other words, the book-selling world has to deplore the loss of Mr. Charles Hindley, who long ago confessed to the innocent imposture. He wrote a good deal in one way or another, partly to the press and partly in books, but Mother Shipton was his most famous achievement. He died at Brighton, where he used to carry on the business of a bookseller.—London Globe.

Mayor and Wooden Leg.
 Mayor Willard of Argentine, Mo., unstrapped his wooden leg and beat into a tractable mood a claimant who was too persistent in his attempt to collect an unjust bill from the city. It does not follow that all wooden legged men would make good mayors, but such a man as Willard, with a wooden leg, has points of advantage over a man with a wooden head—and towns east of the Rocky mountains have had that kind of mayors.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

that you can secure almost immediate relief from Indigestion, and that uncomfortable fullness after meals, by simply taking a dose of Simmons Liver Regulator? Some people think that because it is called Liver Regulator it has nothing to do with Indigestion and the like. It is the function of the Liver that causes Indigestion, and that fullness; also Constipation, and these Bilious Headaches. Millions have been made to understand this and have been cured from these troubles by Simmons Liver Regulator—a medicine unflinching and purely vegetable.

From Rev. M. B. Wharton, Baltimore, Md.
 "It affords me pleasure to add my testimony to the great virtues of Simmons Liver Regulator. I have had experience with it, as occasion demanded, for many years, and regard it as the greatest medicine of the time. So good a medicine deserves universal commendation."

APPEALING TO THE EAST.

The gold men of New York, Boston and other eastern cities have addressed circulars to the western men with whom they have business relations, in which they urge them to ask their customers to petition their senators and representatives in congress to vote for the repeal of the Sherman act. Similar circulars were sent to the south, where, as is shown by the action of the Florida congressmen, they are proving effective. The Florida merchants under eastern pressure refuse to trust planters and farmers unless they urge the repeal of the Sherman act. As the farmers must have credit they ask their representative in congress to vote for the repeal of the act. Now Salt Lake business men, who have extensive dealings with the east, have formulated an appeal to the east in which they say:

"That the business men of the west are astonished at the persistency of eastern business men in their efforts to influence congress for unconditional repeal of the Sherman act of 1890 without a substitute and which, if passed by congress, must completely demoralize not only the west, but all portions of the United States. Judging from the present condition of finance and commerce, therefore, in the words of the crucified Savior, we say: 'Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.'"

"We challenge supporters of the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act to show or that they have ever shown wherein any benefit would arise for the reasons given or that confidence would be restored if their policy should be fully carried out."

"Independent of all direct silver interest and in behalf of commercial relations alone, we earnestly beseech all business men personally to unbiasedly investigate this subject of bimetalism, feeling confident that they will unanimously and without delay call upon congress to restore silver to the place it occupied before 1873, thus speedily and permanently settling this monetary question, restoring confidence to commerce, giving employment to many unemployed and stopping this awful march of ruin and distrust."

THE GOLD AND SILVER RATIO.

EDITOR STATE JOURNAL:—Please explain in the JOURNAL what is meant by the gold and silver ratio. Many persons inquire what the ratio of 16 to 1 means, and how a change to 17 to 1 or 20 to 1 will affect silver. An explanation may help the cause we are fighting for.

Yours truly,

O. II.

The coinage laws of the United States provide that the standard dollar shall consist of 412½ grains of standard silver, and the gold dollar shall consist of 25 8-10th grains of standard gold. Standard silver and gold consists of nine parts pure silver or gold, as the case may be, and one part alloy. The silver dollar, therefore, consists of 87½ grains of pure silver and one-tenth that number of grains of alloy. That makes one grain of gold worth, for coinage purposes, 15.98 grains of silver, which is the present ratio. Practically it is 16 to 1, at which ratio silver, when coined into standard dollars, is worth $1.29.29 per ounce. The weight of the silver dollar is now sixteen times that of the gold dollar. If the ratio is changed to 17 to 1, the silver dollar will be seventeen times as heavy as the gold dollar, and the coinage value of silver, now $1.29 per ounce, would be reduced, omitting fractions, to $1.21 per ounce. At 18 to 1 the value of silver would be $1.14 per ounce, and at 20 to 1, $1.03 per ounce. At the ratio of 20 to 1 the silver dollar would contain 464.40 grains of pure silver or 516 grains of standard silver, that is silver nine-tenths fine, and be twenty times the weight of the gold dollar, and silver, when coined, would be worth $1.03 per ounce, or over 20 cents per ounce less than its present value.

In Europe the ratio is 15½ grains of silver to 1 grain of gold, which makes the coinage value of silver greater than it is in the United States. At 20 to 1 the coinage value of silver is reduced over 25 per cent and the purchasing power of gold proportionately increased.

THE COINAGE COMMITTEE.

The committee on coinage, weights and measures is composed of eighteen members, one of whom is Rawlins of Utah who has no vote in the house. Bland is chairman, but three of the most uncompromising anti-silver men, namely Tracey and Hart of Ohio, are on the committee. It is impossible to determine at this stage of the proceedings whether a majority of the committee is for or against free coinage. It would be an insult to Bland, who has been chairman of the committee since 1875 except in two sessions of congress when the house was Republican, to make him chairman if a majority of the committee is against him.

SENATOR MORRILL of Vermont advocates the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act. The great protectionist who wants an American tariff policy does not believe in an American financial policy. Like Sherman, he wants the gold standard adopted in the United States or as much silver put in the dollar as English brokers desire.

The treasury department purchased 60,000 ounces of silver yesterday at 74½.

CHANGING THE RATIO.

Secretary Carlisle Figures the Cost. WASHINGTON, August 21.—Senator Voorhees has given out the following letter, which he will read in the senate: Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees, United States Senator.—Sir: Referring to our conversation relative to the probable cost incident to a change from the present coinage ratio between gold and silver (1 to 16 for standard silver dollars and 1 to 14.95 for subsidiary silver) to a ratio of 1 to 20, you are respectfully informed that the number of silver dollars coined since 1878 aggregates 419,822,450.

Without any allowance for abrasion and loss incident to melting the same, coinage value of these dollars at the ratio of 1 to 20 would be $333,222,162, or $84,120,288 less than their present face value. To recoin these dollars at the ratio of 1 to 20 would require the addition of 81,367,700 ounces of new bullion, which, at the average price paid for silver under the act of July 14, 1890, (93½ cents) would cost $75,883,700.

In addition to this estimate, there would be a loss from abrasion and in melting these dollars of at least $3,000,000, which amount, together with the face value of the coins ($4,110,288) would have to be reimbursed to the treasury by appropriation for that purpose.

From the fact that silver dollars are distributed throughout the country it would be necessary as they are redeemed at the several sub-treasuries, to transport them to the mints, and the expense of transportation for $300,000,000, the amount outside the stock on hand at the sub-treasuries and mints at Philadelphia, San Francisco and New Orleans, would average at least 1½ per cent or $4,500,000. I therefore estimate the cost of recoining the silver dollars already coined as follows:

New bullion to be added, $75,883,700; loss by abrasion and melting, $3,000,000; cost of coining (labor, materials,) $6,200,000; copper for alloy, $68,200; transportation of dollars to mints, $4,500,000; total, $89,741,900.

The stock of subsidiary silver coin in the country is estimated at $77,000,000, which at full weight would contain 55,699,875 ounces of fine silver. This amount at a ratio of 1 to 20 would coin $55,843,802, or $21,156,198 less than the present face value. To recoin $77,000,000 of subsidiary silver into an equal amount of fractional coin at a ratio of 1 to 20 would require the addition of 13,737,625 fine ounces, which at 93½ cents per fine ounce—the average price paid for silver under the act of July 14, 1890—would cost $12,828,853.33½. There would be a loss of about 2½ per cent by abrasion from the face value, or about $1,925,000. I would therefore estimate the cost of recoining the subsidiary silver in the country, at a ratio of 1 to 20, as follows:

New bullion, $17,528,785; loss by abrasion, $1,925,000; cost of coining (labor, materials, etc.), $2,500,000; copper for alloy, $15,036; cost of transportation, $1,155,000. Total, $23,124,421.

Recapitulation.—Estimated cost of recoining silver dollars, $89,741,900; estimated cost of recoining subsidiary silver, $23,124,421. Total, $112,866,321. J. G. CARLISLE, Secretary.

Excited at Berlin on Account of Cholera. BERLIN, August 21.—There is a slight cholera panic here and the police are carrying on disinfecting measures on a large scale, and especially near the Russian frontier, where Polish immigration is suspended. All public meetings, even the Roman Catholic congress at Wurzburg, are stopped for the present. There is no actual danger, and the authorities are confident of their ability to localize the outbreak.

Telegraphic Notes.

The Union national bank and the People's national bank of Denver resumed business yesterday.

There are 10,000 men out of employment in San Francisco, 5,000 of whom have applied for work on the midwinter fair grounds.

Returns from 510 of the 584 French election districts have been received and show that 309 Republicans, 44 Conservatives and 14 Raillees have been elected. There was no choice in 149 districts. The Republicans gained 46 seats and lost none.

A mob attempted to burn the French embassy in Rome. The troops charged upon the mob, but the latter fought stubbornly and many of them were wounded. Popular indignation is aroused in Italy against the French in consequence of the trouble between the French and Italian workmen in France.

Judge McKenna of the U. S. district court, decided the injunction proceedings of the Southern Pacific Company to prevent the city of Oakland from interfering with the company's business, in favor of the company. The city of Oakland is enjoined from interfering with the railroad company until the ownership of the Oakland water front is decided.

The livestock exhibition at the world's fair opened in the presence of 20,000 people. The exhibition will remain open until October 28th. There are 1,017 horses, 1,500 head of sheep, 1,205 cattle and 1,500 hogs. They are housed in forty stables, each 200 feet long by 42 feet wide, at the south end of the grounds. The czar of Russia has twenty-one horses on exhibition, some with pedigrees running back 125 years.

Two stallions in this group are valued at $100,000 each. The horses are classed as standard Orloff trotters, heavy and light. The Orloffs are a half cross of saddle or light carriers for heavy cavalry service. The imperial stables of Germany are also represented. The exhibition will be given in the pavilion each day.

COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS.

What the Board Did Yesterday. The board of county commissioners met yesterday, pursuant to adjournment, present George Alt, chairman, W. P. McLaughlin, Clerk Evans and District Attorney Culler.

The following business was transacted:

It was ordered that the bill of E. C. Lothrop, constable of Wadsworth township, be rejected.

A petition signed by Jerry Corecco, H. Heidenreich, Alex Twaddle, Stephen Masoth and Stephen Pedroll, praying that the board take action in the matter of having Theodore Winters keep the road known as the Dall ranch road open for travel, it being a public highway, and the same being fenced by said Winters. The board instructed the clerk to notify the signers of the petition that it would be necessary for one of them to swear to a complaint against Mr. Winters and that thereafter the district attorney would attend to the matter.

Member McLaughlin was empowered to purchase three cars of lumber for the use of the county.

Bids for painting the engine house were opened and the following bids noticed: J. M. Blanchard $105, J. H. Seagrave (no mention of boiled oil) $48, Marshall Graham (county to furnish material) $25, J. M. Painter (no mention of boiled oil) $38, Fugh & Cook $99 65, J. B. McCullough $70, J. B. McCullough, Heath & Milligan $78, F. C. Updike, $70 75, S. H. Carpenter (raw lined oil) $70. The board being unable to agree as to which was the lowest and best bid action on the matter was deferred until the next meeting.

It is ordered by the board that previous orders made by them in regard to printing and publishing for the county be rescinded.

Complaint having been made to the board, it is ordered that M. D. Foley be notified to construct a sidewalk in accordance with the town ordinance in relation thereto on his premises corner of Second and Virginia streets, and that he also place a suitable railing around the excavation in said lot to prevent danger to the traveling public. L. Lewis was also ordered to place a sidewalk in front of his premises on Sierra street between Second and Third.

A petition signed by numerous taxpayers and citizens was presented to the board praying that the fire limits be extended so as to include the block bounded by West, Fourth and Virginia streets; extending the line north on West street to Fourth, east on Fourth to Virginia and south on Virginia to the present limit, and the same was ordered filed.

The board after passing numerous bills adjourned until Monday, September 4th.

The Spleen

—not the ill-humor you fell like venting upon some offender, but the spleen near the stomach, which supplies the proper amount of blood to the stomach during digestion. But both are affected by a torpid liver. A torpid liver excites the spleen (ill-humor) and destroys the bodily organs; but an active liver, promoted by Spleen-Liver Regulator, destroys the spleen (ill-humor), and excites to right action the digestive powers—then no more Dyspepsia, Constipation or Biliousness.

MARRIED ON THE OCEAN.

Young Wightman of Churchill and Miss
Downs of Humboldt joined in Wedlock.

Fredrick M. Wightman of Churchill county, 22 years of age, and Miss Emma Snow Downs of Lovelock, not yet sweet sixteen, were joined in the holy bands of Matrimony by Captain Gilbert H. Brokaw of the tug Reliance, three marine leagues from land, off the Heads at San Francisco last Saturday, in the presence of five reputable witnesses. The Chronicle gives the following particulars of the affair:

This sea marriage is the latest up to date. It is to some degree a runaway match. According to the story which the bridegroom tells, the law of the state of Nevada would not allow him to wed his lady love in the town of Lovelock in Humboldt county, Nevada, because the young lady had not reached the age of sixteen years. The two agree that her parents have no objections to the union of the pair. Wightman says he did not inform his father in Churchill county, Nevada, that he was going to come to this city and marry, but he knows that it will be all right.

True love did not run smoothly with the pair. When Wightman arrived in this city yesterday in company with the young lady, he went to the Russ House, where the two secured separate apartments. They afterward went to the county Clerk's office and wanted a marriage license. There Miss Downs is recorded as stating that she was about fifteen years of age, although she looks to be twenty. The license, of course, could not be granted.

Wightman proved to be a man of resources, John Reed, a plain grocer of Lovelock, had given him a letter of introduction to Accountant Cook and G. W. Wesgate of Moore, Ferguson & Co., on California street, and these young gentlemen were all attention. Did he want a tug to make a trip outside the heads? Certainly. Spreckles' Tow-boat Company was notified by telephone and the tug Reliance placed under waiting orders at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. In the meantime the prospective bridegroom and his lady love were at the new City Hall hesitating between the possibility of a marriage license and a civil marriage contract. All this time the tug was "hooked on" and only needed the bell and the casting off of the lines to start.

Two hours went by and no sign of the bridal party. Things began to look dubious when, at 4:15 o'clock a one-horse chaise drove quickly down the block and out got the pair. Two moments later the tug was steaming down the bay at full speed. Chief Engineer Michael Condon, and his assistants, C. W. Lewis and Peter Guilan, were seeing that the tug did her best, and she did. A twelve-knot rate of speed was maintained.

R. T. Gard of the Spreckles company, who went along, left nothing undone to make the trip a success. In this he achieved everlasting glory. The wedding party were comfortably looked after in the cabin, and everybody else came in for a good share of attention. As the tug passed beyond the heads the prospective bride began to feel the terrors of seasickness. She was spunky but she felt ill. The tug was slowed down a little to help matters. When the whistling buoy was reached Captain Brokaw made the turn and headed the tug for port. This point is three marine leagues from land and the Mecca for runaway couples. Everything of a marital nature that takes place on the high seas beyond this point is legal where a properly licensed captain gives his sanction.

THE CEREMONY.

Captain Brokaw is not a novice at this nautical tying up of hearts. Half a dozen scalps, so to speak, hang from his belt. Prayer-book in hand he asked the bridal party to step into the main deck forward, and he then read the Episcopal marriage service to the bride and groom. The former was suffering from the pangs of seasickness, so Mr. Gard, who was equal to the emergency, supported the lady during the service. A large gold ring was produced by the groom and Captain Brokaw ceremoniously placed it upon the finger of the lady. This ended the marriage rites. The wedding was a pretty one and artistically carried out. Nothing to beat it has ever occurred at this port. The only thing lacking was that the captain neglected to kiss the blushing bride.

THE BRIDE AND GROOM.
The bride is a slight built young woman. She looks fully five years older than she is. She was dressed in a gray walking dress with puffed sleeves and wore a straw hat with feather trimmings. The groom is a well-knit young man. He dresses plainly. The most characteristic thing about him is his hat, which has an individuality of an impressive character.

"We were to be married in Nevada on the 22d inst," said Wightman, yesterday, "when I found out that the law would not give us a license, as my wife was not quite 16 years of age. We had arranged for a big dinner and did not care to stop anything. After consultation with friends we decided to come to this city, marry and return home in time for the wedding party. It is a good thing to be a little 'fly' sometimes. Had I said nothing in Nevada there would have been no trouble to get a license. I talked too much, I know."

"GIRLS ARE SCARCE
In Lovelock, and get a good many attentions shown them. I met my wife while working as a laborer on my father-in-law's farm. We fell in love several months ago, and I am glad that we are married. My father, D. M. Wightman, is a farmer of Churchill county, Nevada. He does not as yet know of my marriage. My wife's father is L. L. Downs of Lovelock. We expect to leave for home on Monday. I shall get a ranch for myself. Our trip on the water is the first in our lives. We never saw a ship until yesterday. When the Midwinter Fair is opened we shall come down again from Nevada, and take it in."

On the return the tug landed at the foot of Jackson street, where the wedding party disembarked. All were in high spirits.

IMPORTING TEACHERS.

What a Member of a School Board Says About It.

EDITOR RENO JOURNAL:—School boards are frequently hauled over the coals for employing teachers from outside the state or importing them, as it is termed, but no reason has as yet been assigned or even hinted at why they have done so. There must surely be something to influence them in pursuing a line of action so much at variance with what is right and proper. A prophet, it has been long said, has no honor in his own country, and it may be so with pedagogues, but I don't take much stock in that view of the matter. I propose simply to give what has been the experience in our school board with our "boys," although I am very glad to say not our "girls." A number of years ago this board was applied to for a position by a young gentleman who had taught a school not a hundred miles from Winnemucca. He supplemented very good testimonials with a letter in which he described himself as a man not merely of unexceptional reputation, but actually impecunious in character. The board lost no time in making terms with this wonderful ratus homo, and everything was arranged. But as the day approached for opening school the clerk received a letter from this teacher in which he very coolly stated that he had been offered and had accepted a position much nearer his home and that the board would have to look elsewhere for a teacher. So much for one of our boys.

Now, for instance, No. 2. The clerk of the board applied to a high educational authority requesting him to give the names of some teachers he considered suitable for the school. He kindly did so, giving preference to a certain gentleman, who put in an application very soon afterward. The matter was settled to the satisfaction of board and teacher. The clerk in his letter to that gentleman put the question, "What this board wants positively to know is will you be at—on the first Monday of September to open school?" The teacher's reply was, "Assure the board I will be on hand without fail to open school at the time specified in your letter." Well, sure enough, the gentleman put in an appearance the Saturday before the Monday on which school was to begin. Yes, he came—he saw—and with the very first train afterwards he went back to Reno. Just as the train approached he rushed over to one of the trustees and informed him that very important business necessitated his instant presence in Reno, but that he would return on Monday or Tuesday to open school. Monday morning came and with it a host of little children, but alas, no teacher. The trustees made some excuse to the disappointed little ones to the effect that family sickness had suddenly called away their teacher, and told them to return on the morrow morning when, no doubt, he would be on hand to attend to his duties. But Tuesday morning came and still no teacher. The trustees felt like committing felo de se; hope had given place to despair, and they realized fully the ridiculous plight in which they were placed and awaited with quiet resignation the copious raillery of the people. So much for No. 2, another of our boys, who, I heard soon afterwards, was teaching school near to his parents' home, and that was probably the important business he alluded to. Well, I intended to give instance No. 3, but I think we have had enough.

Conduct such as this is calculated to shake the confidence of school boards in that fine sense of honor and high principle which they would be proud to see exemplified in our indigenous school teachers.

One word more. School boards have been taken to task by those who have paid no heed to the admonition audite alteram partem, but let me ask, Are not some of those high officials who have the care of our educational interests in their charge somewhat remiss? Certificates have been issued to some who are not fit to teach our schools, but these certificates have never been cancelled, notwithstanding the misconduct of the parties is as notorious as it is reprehensible. I can bear witness to the fact that trustees have had their lives made miserable by these same teachers who, notwithstanding point blank refusals, have assailed them at every corner with their importunities and who, with the effrontery and persistence of turkey buzzards, have hung around watching with all eagerness an opportunity to snatch the much coveted prize.

The cures performed in Reno by the Western Bichloride Institute are rapidly silencing all opposition to the institute and its method of treating those addicted to the liquor and kindred habits. Nearly every week one or more patients are being turned out cured—new men in body, in appetite, in will power. Many of them have been life-long drinkers and are well known in this community, and to-day they are again free men with absolutely no desire for liquor in any form. The institute makes no flourish of triumph but goes quietly on in its mission of destroying what is known as the alcohol disease.
